

Emily Louisa Lathrop

June 27, 1935 - November 21, 2015

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

GG

“ This year we were unable to celebrate Mother's day with you mom, even though I know that your essence is still with us. Not having you here and constantly being reminded that you aren't, makes it even harder to continue without you.

I really thought that this was going to be as easy as great grangpa was on dad's side. But this is WAY different. Every time I think of you, I hurt so bad that I just don't want to be here any more.

I know that "life goes on", but sometimes, I just don't want to.I love you and miss you mommy. ...

Gregory Galvan - May 12, 2016 at 11:50 AM

GG

“ I'm simply amazed at how little that those that cared for my mom, have very little to say about her. I TOO miss her greatly and wish that she was still here, but at least I'm willing to post a note or two. Please find it in your hearts to post something. I really would like to know how you felt about he .

Thank you.

Gregory Galvan - February 11, 2016 at 03:22 PM

GG

“ I'm still missing my mom

Gregory Galvan - February 03, 2016 at 10:24 AM

TH

“ Grandma Emmy. She will be missed. I was only related by marriage but my kids her great grand kids loved her very much. I remember helping Greg and tara with grandma everyday. illyamay bringing her newspaper to her. I will always remember her loving smile and how much she loved everybody she knew. And how much she believed in me. I love u grandma Emmy.

tiffany hayes - December 22, 2015 at 12:41 PM

JT

“ Joyse Tutt lit a candle in memory of Emily Louisa Lathrop

Joyse Tutt - December 22, 2015 at 11:55 AM

GG

“ *In her room was a "butler" and every day it was filled with coffee. I would always place it on her table, (the one provided by the VA), and always fill up her cup. When she wanted a re-fill, she would call me. When I went to see what she wanted or needed, she wouldn't say anything but look at her cup. I'd ask if she wanted a re-heat and she'd nod yes. Then I would stand grab for the butler which was inches from her reach and she would give me those two little words....."oh shit!" Then we would laugh till she cried. This would happen ALL day.
RIP mom. I love you.*

Gregory Galvan - December 09, 2015 at 01:32 AM

GG

“ On 11/21/2015, Emily Louisa Lathrop passed away. She will be missed. She was a fantastic mom and friend. Even though I didn't recognize the signs that she was passing, (in her final days), she will always be the mom that wiped my nose when it ran. The mom that spanked me when I was bad. The mom that loved me unconditionally despite my flaws. The mom that was ALWAYS there when I needed her. I WILL miss her. And I still do. Good bye mom. I love you.

Gregory Galvan - December 01, 2015 at 11:53 AM