“ Logan my son ,my best friend, my young man .I miss you more than words can say. I look for you every day. I search the sky looking for you .I search the trees hoping to see you standing there. I'll never stop looking for you. I know you are there somewhere because you told me you would be by my side forever. I Love you always. Dad

“ It's hard to believe you been gone a month already :(not a day has gone by that I haven't thought about you and even more lately because of the kids being out of school and you and Jordan would be hanging out messing around just doing what teenage boys would do. Love and miss you from mom #2

“ Every time you'd stay the night you'd be one of the last ones to go to sleep and be the 1st to wake up. We would sit on the couch and just have a real conversation about school, girls, pot, family, friends, dreams and just about anything else we could think of to talk about. I will always cherish those memories. You will be deeply missed and never forgotten till we meet again. RIP

Best Friends For Eternity

Imagine answering your front door and discovering that a three year old little boy who lived a couple doors down decided to introduce himself to you. There stood an adorable little boy with his two large road dogs, Jack & Jim. I said omg, can we keep him? My other neighbor Kelly who happen to be there at the time, said, 'hi Logan, no you can't keep him, he's Augi and Tiffany's son'. I have to say you would have thought it was publishers clearing house there to tell me i had won a prize. My head swelled up because it was as if he wanted to know me of all the neighbors he picked me. From that very moment on Logan and I had became friends. As the years fell off the calendar as if they were months I finally felt certain that he knew he has a place in my heart that would never change but only grow stronger. I will cherish the memories that we share, I will keep you alive in my heart by doing things that I learned from you and the memories of our camping trip. Logan I truly loved you more than I ever told you. So I will use this experience as a constant reminder to tell the people I care about how important they are to me and how my very existence is dependant upon their participation in it. Thank you Logan for being in life.
Sincerely, Suzanne
